PILGRIMS

“SURRENDER TO THE FROST”

The Pilgrims view the Captain's death as a good omen, a sign that the time has come for New London to cast off the oppressive shadow of the generator and the grip of the Stalwarts.

They claim the best way to survive the Great Frost is not to fight it, but to embrace it. They take this to mystical heights, boasting that they see colour in the snow and that the frostland whispers her secrets to them.

And soon, they claim, the whispers will guide us all.

FAITHKEEPERS

“ONE FLOCK UNDER THE GENERATOR”

The Faithkeepers uphold “the Faith” established by the Captain to keep the City together during the trying times of the Great Storm. Since his death, they worship his memory and endeavour to continue what they believe to be his legacy.

They preach that through hard work and prayer, New London can be turned into a green paradise where all citizens will live equally under the protection of the Holy Generator.

All, that is, except those who blaspheme and defile its warmth, for them a cold hell awaits.

FROSTPUNK 2

COSPLAY GUIDE

EVOLVERS

“ONE STEP AHEAD”

The Evolvers view the Captain's death as an opportunity for New London to finally break free from what they consider superstition and dependence on backwards ideals.

They claim that fighting the Frost is a fool's errand and that, instead, we must adapt and change ourselves: forcefully and decisively improve our bodies and remodel our society to allow the strongest to thrive in this new world.

Evolution is coming: why not accelerate it?

FROSTPUNK 2

COSPLAY GUIDE

EVOLVERS

STALWARTS

“THROUGH ORDER, VICTORY”

The Stalwarts are comprised of the old Captains’ most fervent allies, a people forged from the tenets of efficiency and order. They were there when New London first began, survived by the warmth of the Generator, and refused to see her fall.

With everyone marching to the beat of their leader’s drum, the City can truly progress. A well-oiled machine, everyone in their place, heads down, doing as their betters instruct.

After all, a City in order is a City in control, and the Stalwarts are more than comfortable taking control.

FROSTPUNK 2

ICEBLOODS

“ALL PACKS NEED ALPHAS”

The Icebloods are all about the natural order and survival of the fittest. They think each must strive to be better than the rest, for only through such struggle can we push past our limits to become the best versions of ourselves.

The new world has no place for the weak and neither do they: they advocate weeding out those unable to fend for themselves, for if we do not, they will take us down with them.

In a dog-eat-dog world, it's best to be a wolf.

FROSTPUNK 2

TECHNOCRATS

“CALCULATE. PLAN. ADJUST. REPEAT”

The Technocrats are convinced they have ascertained the best, most efficient way to ensure the greatest good for the greatest number.

It's a simple matter of logic and mathematical models. This world may be brutal, but we have science on our side. Brains over brawn.

They have concluded that through technology and automation, the City will run like clockwork in perfect, rational unison.

Stripped of the illusions of free will and individualism, citizens are a resource. And the Technocrats excel in resource management.

FROSTPUNK 2

VENTURERS

“TRUST THE INVISIBLE HAND”

The Venturers see opportunity where others see disaster. The old world is behind us, but so are its shackles. Free from peerage and petty morals, there are no longer any limits to what we can achieve. The most enterprising can finally rise to the top and guide us towards a prosperous future.

Competition is the engine of innovation. We will rebuild, bigger and better.
Everyone will get their due.

The winners may be few, but all will get a chance to play.

BOHEMIANS

“WE NEED A FRESH CANVAS”

The Bohemians celebrate the Frost as a foundational reckoning. These misfits and outcasts were glad to be rid of the old world they so much despised. Now they are free to dream and mould a new future, free from convention and exploitation.

Do not let their look and gentle tone fool you, they are true believers, and they will fight tooth and nail for their vision. From a dying carcass, a new world will sprout.

Life is fleeting. Art is violence. Destruction is creation.
